

Inner Worlds

IMAGINATION AND INSPIRATION

INNER WORLD BOOK SCULPTURE

Books contain entire worlds of imagination. This concept is made whimsically literal in Gabriel Lueders' sculpture of a book stack. A peep hole reveals the surprisingly wide, pastoral landscape hidden within.

This large, wooden sculpture is finely crafted with thoughtful details. Additional dioramas can be built to order, and each of the three stacked books can accommodate a peephole and vista. Announcements could become showstopping displays by combining the open book with projection technology and motion graphics. Group Creative Services believes this would be successful for advertising, event wayfinding, and other living content such as changing stories written by patrons.

PROJECT COSTS

Book Sculpture	$10,500
Repaint w/custom colors	500
Additional dioramas @	1,000
Projection integration	TBD

MEET THE ARTIST

Gabriel Lueders is an Iowa native known for exceptional woodworking craft and finely detailed designs in addition to his expansive drawings and murals.

6½' High
3½' Wide
3' Deep

